A Good Motto to Remember

(Farmers cut this out)

Careful Straining and proper Cooling of Milk in water at this time of year is very essential to guard against loss. Both Dairymen and Manufacturers take big chances of loss if the Milk is not cooled just as carefully during winter months as in the summer. Do not trust to weather conditions. The Milk will not cool in the centre of the can fast enough to prevent high acidity unless proper stirring is applied.

Didsbury Y. M. C. A. Meeting

Realizing the great need of some organization in Didsbury to assist the boys and young men of the town and district to find an outlet for their activities, both moral and physical, Rev. D. McGregor of the Presbyterian church approached some of the lads ago to find out their feelings on the matter. He met with much encouragement and some of the business men and others volunteered to assist him in forming a branch of the Y. M. C. A., with the result that a meeting was held last week when the following business was transacted:

Moved by Mr. Phillipson, seconded by Mr. Gabel, that membership fee for boys under 18 years of age be $2.50; regular fee $5.00, sustaining $12.50 per annum. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Phillipson, seconded by Mr. Butts, that Mr. Hillyard and Mr. Chambers be a committee to purchase equipment for the Y. M. C. A. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Chambers, seconded by Mr. Phillipson, that collecting for membership fees the school district be canvassed. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Phillipson, seconded by Mr. Chambers that the Secretary be instructed to purchase a minute book. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Gabel, seconded by Mr. Phillipson, that we adjourn. Carried.

Didsbury Juniors Play Good Hockey

Unfortunately we have seen very little hockey in Didsbury this year, in fact there has been no games at all because of the lack of a rink, but our boys have however journeyed out of town for a game or two one of which took place at Olds on Saturday last between the Didsbury and Olds juniors.

The Didsbury line-up was as follows: H. Atkins, goal; Arnold Liesemer, cover point; H. Storey, point; Pete Weber, centre; Hessel Van Wyck, right wing; Lloyd Liesemer, left wing. Three periods of twenty minutes each were played and the game started about 8.30 p.m. The first period was very evenly played, only one score for Didsbury by Lloyd Liesemer was made. The second period L. Liesemer, Weber and A. Liesemer scored three and Olds scored one. In the third Didsbury added another by Van Wyck which brought the tally up to 5-1 in favor of Didsbury. H. Atkins starred as goal keeper for the Didsbury team.

Meeting of U. F. A. to Discuss Telephone Question

A meeting of the U. F. A. for the discussion of the Telephone Question in Didsbury and district will be held in the Red Cross rooms on Saturday, March 22nd, at 1 p.m. All farmers interested are urgently requested to attend. C. F. Rennie, Sec.-Treas.

being performed by Rev. J. D. Fenner of the Didsbury Evangelical church.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Lydia Mueller and Mr. Otto Mueller. The bride was charmingly attired in a travelling suit of navy blue broadcloth with a large picture hat to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of navy blue georgette crepe with bead trimmings. Miss Zetta Liesemer rendered Lohengrin's bridal march, and the bride was given away by Mr. John Gilmore of Lethbridge, brother-in-law of the groom, while Master Robert Gilmore very fittingly performed his duty as ring bearer.

After the ceremony the company partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner. The happy couple took the evening train for Lethbridge where they will spend a few days with the groom's sister and family, after which they will take up their residence on a farm east of Three Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Mueller were the recipients of many valuable and useful gifts showing the high esteem in which they are held. Their many friends join in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes.

The edit was dark; he was embarking on a rash adventure, and wondered with some misgivings what would happen before he came out again. He heard nothing, and it was rather curious that he could not smell smoke, but bracing himself he stooped and crept into the dark hole.

The floor sloped, following the inclination of the strata, and seemed to be strewn with fallen stones, but he had put on rubber shoes and made very little noise. He did not want to warn Daly that his hiding place had been discovered until he was near enough to explain that he had nothing to do with the police. There would not be much danger when the fellow knew who he was and that the mine was watched, but he wanted to get as close as possible before alarming him. Daly, no doubt, carried a pistol.

Stopping for a moment, he raised his head incautiously and smothered an exclamation when he struck it against the roof. He could hear water dripping somewhere below and the slope felt steep. It was nervous work creeping down hill in the dark, and there was, perhaps, a risk of his falling into a pit. When he dislodged a stone that rattled he held his breath as he listened. He heard nothing, and set his lips as he overcame an impulse to turn back. If Daly had heard the stone, he was probably waiting for him with his finger on the trigger.

For all that, Foster went on, feeling for the rough wall, until he struck his foot against a big stone and losing his balance staggered and fell. He made a noise that echoed through the edit and, worse than all, the pistol shot out of his hand. He felt for it but could not find it, and for a few moments lay still with tingling nerves. Daly must have heard him and was, no doubt, crouching in the dark ready to shoot. He tried again to find the pistol, and then with an effort pulled himself together. The next move might draw a shot, but he must risk that and not lie there helpless. Besides, if the fellow missed, he would grapple with and disarm him, and he sprang to his feet.

"Daly!" he called in a voice that he meant to be careless but was rather hoarse. "It's Foster. I want to talk about Featherstone."

There was no reply. He heard water falling into a pool, but except for this the mine was strangely silent, and after waiting for a moment he grew back against the rock.

"Pete!" he shouted.

His voice sounded muffled and he wondered whether Pete could hear, but tried to fix his attention on the dark in front. It was there that danger might lurk. Then he heard Pete stumbling among the stones, and presently the man came up, panting with haste.

"Where's the lamp?" Foster asked. He knew he was going to do a dangerous thing, if Daly was hiding near, but something must be risked and he struck a match. It sputtered, throwing an illusive gleam on the wet rock a yard or two in front, and then went out. Foster struck another with a hoarse exclamation and touched the wick of a small, flat, metal lamp, such as Western miners hook on their hats. Candles are not common in Canadian towns where water power makes electric lighting cheap. The lamp gave a dim smoky light, and when Foster picked up his pistol they waited a few moments, looking eagerly in front.

A trickle of water fell from a crack in the roof and running down the floor of the edit vanished into the gloom. Here and there a ragged projection caught the light, but the rest of the tunnel was hidden in impenetrable darkness. They went on cautiously, though Foster now felt anxious because there was no sign of Daly. After a minute or two, the light fell on a wall of dry rock with a pool at the bottom and he knew they had reached the end of the edit. Next moment he saw there was an opening to one side where some ore had been taken out. If Daly was in the mine, he was there, and warning Pete with a sign, he turned the corner.

The light showed a small, dry chamber, strewn with sharp stones, some of which had been put together to make a hearth. Between these lay the ashes of a fire, bits of food were scattered about, and a blue Hudson's Bay blanket lay in a corner. Except for this, the chamber was empty. Foster savagely clenched his fist while Pete stirred the ashes and felt the blanket.

"It's dry as the neck of a cigar is fresh on it," he said. "You fire's no been out long. I'm thinking it's a pity we didn't come last night."

Foster sat down and looked about. He was getting calm, but felt dull with disappointment. For all that, he saw why the mine had been abandoned. There was a fault in the strata, where the vein had slipped down, but the subsidence had cracked the rock above and he imagined that the fissure reached the surface. The air was fresh and not very cold, there was water close by, and Foster saw no reason why Daly should not have found the chamber a comfortable hiding place. Yet he had left it.

"Can you see the blanket you talked about?" he asked, giving Pete the lamp.

Pete found it behind some stones and they examined it together.

"Here's the spirit stove, some bread and the can of meat," said Foster.

"But I see no biscuits. Can he have eaten them?"

"There were over many. He's taken them with him."

"Well," said Foster thoughtfully, "I don't see why the other fellow brought him provisions he didn't need."

"Maybe something happened since he brought the basket," Pete suggested.

Foster pondered. It was possible that something had happened at the hotel after Telford's visit that had altered the accomplices' plans, or made it easier for Daly to get away; but if this were so, Telford must have gone back to the mine. He might have done so, but Foster thought Daly had perhaps not taken his confederate altogether into his confidence and had changed his plans without warning him. Foster could not tell what chance the fellow had of stealing away, but as he had left the basket and only taken some biscuits, it looked as if he did not expect to go very far on foot.

"We'll get out and try to find which way he's gone," he said.

It was a relief to reach the open air, and they carefully studied the sloppy snow. Foster knew something about tracking elk and moose, and Pete had a poacher's skill, but the rapid thaw had blurred the footprints they found. On the whole, however, Pete imagined that Telford had returned to the mine since his visit on the previous evening.

Then they searched about the foot of the rocks and presently found marks that showed where somebody had climbed. Getting up, they followed the marks to a beaten trail that ran along the hillside from the town to a neighboring mine. There was nothing to be learned here and Foster went back dejectedly to his hotel. Dinner was being served when he arrived, but he did not see Walters and felt annoyed when Telford stopped him as he was coming out.

"I haven't seen you since last night and thought we might have had a game," he said. "Where have you been all morning?"

"I didn't come here to play pool," Foster replied. "There was something I had to see about."

"Then I hope you found business pretty good," Telford remarked with a quiet smile that Foster found disturbing.

He thought the fellow would see him if he went to the clerk's office, and beckoning the bell boy into a passage gave him a coin.

"Do you know if the lame gentleman with the dark hair is out?" he asked.

"He's certainly out. Left on the Montreal express this morning."

"You're quite sure of that?"

"Yep," said the lad. "I put his baggage in the transfer wagon for the depot."

Foster went to the rotunda and sat down to smoke, feeling savage, for there was no doubt that he had nudged things. Daly had again escaped him, but he thought he saw what Walters' visit meant. Three of the gang had met to make some plot, which might threaten Lawrence, whom they no doubt thought dangerous. It was ominous that Walters had gone east. Daly was obviously afraid of arrest, but the others seemed to think themselves safe and Telford was stopping at the hotel, although it looked as if he were being watched. Foster wondered whether the fellow suspected this.

Another matter demanded consideration. News of what he had done in Newcastle had probably reached the gang, and he had two checks belonging to members of it in his wallet. If they knew this, which was possible, he might be in some danger, and taking it for granted that the watcher was a detective or acting for Hulton, it would simplify things and free him from a grave responsibility if he told what he knew. For all that, he did not mean to do so. His object was to save his comrade's name.

In the afternoon he played pool with Telford, who carelessly asked him a few clever questions, which Foster answered with a misleading frankness that he hoped would put the other off the track. In the evening he read the newspapers and tried to overcome a growing anxiety about Lawrence. He ought to follow Daly, but did not know where he had gone, and thought that if he waited Telford might give him a clue.

There were no letters for him next morning, but soon after breakfast the bell boy brought him a telegram and he tore open the envelope. The message was from Lucy, Stephen and read:

"Mountaineering friend just arrived. Snow dangerous now. Would feel safer if you could join us. Come if possible."

For a moment or two, Foster sat still, with his face set. Lucy was guarded, but the mountaineering friend was Walters and she had given him an urgent hint that he was needed. Then he picked up a railroad folder that lay near and noting the time of Walters' arrival, saw that the telegram had been delayed. After this he glanced at his watch and ran out into the street.

A trail of black smoke moved across the roofs and he heard the roll of wheels as the heavy train climbed the incline. He had got Lucy's warning ten minutes too late, and could not leave until next day.

XXVIII.

The Log Bridge

Lawrence had gone to his room to rest and Lucy Stephen was sitting alone in the veranda when she heard the roar of an east bound train coming up the valley. It stopped, which did not often happen, and she put down her book and looked out at the opening in the pines that led to the track. The smoke that rose in the clear, cold air began to move, and Lucy frowned, because the train had just stopped long enough for passengers to alight. Although the hotel was generally full in summer, there were then only a few other guests, quiet people whose acquaintance she had made, and she did not wish Lawrence to be disturbed by new arrivals. He was getting better, but not so quickly as she wished. Besides, she had another ground for anxiety.

A man came up the road between the pines. It was a relief to see one man instead of a party, but she went to the glass front and watched him with keen curiosity. He vanished among the trees where the road curved and when he came out not far off she set her lips. It was Walters and her vague fears were realized, but he would not reach the hotel for a few minutes and this gave her time to brace herself.

Ring a bell, she asked for a telephone form and hurriedly filling it up, said to the waiting lad, "Take this down to the office."

The lad wore a smart uniform and was called a page, but he had the pertness that generally marks the bell boy in western hotels.

"Certainly, miss. But I reckon I'll be wanted when the stranger who's coming up the road gets here. Guess it will be all right if I take your message when he's fixed."

Lucy, who scarcely heard, sent the page away. Walters would arrive in a minute or two, and now she had warned Foster she thought she had better not avoid him. If she hid her distrust, she might find out something and she would sooner he saw her before he met Lawrence. There was nobody else in the veranda just then. Walters came in with a smile that somehow intensified her antagonism, but she waited calmly, although she did not give him her hand.

"It looks as if you were rather surprised to see me," he remarked.

"I am," said Lucy. "Perhaps that's not unnatural!"

He laughed and since she did not suggest his sitting down, remained standing in a rather graceful pose. She meant to hide her real feelings if she could, but as she had been angry when he left it was better that he should think her angry now. A marked change in her attitude would be illogical and might excite suspicion.

"I suppose that means you blame me for Lawrence's illness and haven't forgiven me yet?" he suggested.

"I do blame you. You let the guide get drunk and left Lawrence on the couloir. Then you were a long time coming back, when you knew the danger he was in."

"Well," said Walters in an apologetic tone, "I suppose all this is true, but I must point out that when we slipped down the gully it was impossible to get up again. Then there were some big crevasses in the glacier and I had a half-drunk man to help across; I really didn't know he would drink too much when I gave him the flask. However, although, perhaps I was rather careless, I hope you won't forbid my seeing Lawrence."

"I couldn't forbid your seeing him, as you must know."

"You couldn't, in a sense," Walters agreed. "Still, of course, your wishes go a long way with him, and I imagine he is what one might call amenable."

"I don't understand that."

Walters smiled. "I always found Lawrence good-humored and it would surprise me if he did anything you didn't like. I don't know that I can go further without venturing on an open compliment. But I'm anxious to know how he is."

"He is getting better, but must be kept quiet for some time. But why did you come here?"

"It ought to be obvious," Walters replied in a tone of mild protest. "You blame me for my friend's illness, and though I don't know what I felt, undone, I am, in a sense, responsible; any way, I was with him. Well, I found I had to go east, and determined to put off my business for a day or two so I could step over and see how he is getting on."

"You may see him," Lucy replied.

"But you must remember that he isn't strong and needs quietness."

"I'll be very careful," Walters said with a grateful look. "May I take it that your consent is a sign that you'll try to forgive me for my share in the accident?"

Lucy forced a smile. "We'll see how you keep your promise."

She sat down, feeling rather limp, when he left her. He had, on the surface, taken a very proper line, and his excuse for coming was plausible, but she knew that it was false. The man had meant to leave her lover to freeze among the rocks and was horribly clever. It was hard to preserve her calm when she hated and feared him, and although she thought she had not acted badly, the interview had been trying. Besides, Lawrence was generous and not very discriminating. Walters might find a way of disarming the suspicious Foster had roused.

When the page showed Walters to his room, he said to the lad, "I want somebody to go to the station for my bag. Have they a telegraph office?"

"Yep; I'm going down to send a wire. Office isn't open long. Agent quits as soon as east bound freight comes through."

"I suppose the wire's from Miss Stephen?"

The page nodded and Walters gave him twenty-five cents. "Well, if you can wait a little, I'll have a message to send; it will save you a journey."

The boy hesitated, but the money banished his doubts. "All right; you'd better get it written. The freight's nearly due."

YES! MAGICALLY! CORN'S LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops of this new elier compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, dries up and can be lifted out with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that, while freezone is sticky, it dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whitening at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.

Building Prosperity Indicated

In the thousands of letters, questionnaires and reports received in the Department of Labor during the last month from building interests the country over, there is one proposition on which there is complete agreement. None suggests that the future of the building industry will bring anything other than unprecedented activity and prosperity.

A wide breach between Capital and Labor exists throughout the industrial world in all nations, and despite all the sincere efforts being put forth by governments, employers and labor leaders the breach seems to be widening. During the war, in the face of a dire peril threatening all classes and all nations, Capital and Labor joined forces and by splendid co-operative, patriotic effort accomplished great things and proved an essential factor in achieving victory. Now that victory over the common enemy has been won, and the military and naval struggle in Europe ended, there appears to be grave danger that an industrial war will follow within the nations.

Speaking generally, Capital realizes that social and industrial conditions and relationships between employer and employee as they existed prior to the war cannot be continued. Wages cannot drop to their pre-war level; hours of labor will inevitably be shortened; working, housing and social conditions in general must be bettered. Capital appreciates these facts and is prepared to meet them to a very large extent. Capital contends, however, that this social revolution cannot be successfully brought about in a week, or a month, or even a year. With all the goodwill in the world it will take time to work out this evolution if Capital is not to be ruthlessly destroyed and industrial activity reduced to a state of chaos.

Labor, on the other hand, suspicious of Capital and fearful of the permanent loss of rights and privileges which the workers voluntarily surrendered during the war, is impatient at delay and demands immediate action. Most of the responsible leaders of organized labor recognize that Capital has a huge task ahead of it in re-transforming industry from a war to a peace basis; that the financial world is unsettled; and that it is impossible for Capital to grant all Labor's demands at once. But the great body of workers do not, or will not, see this, and the regrettable tendency is everywhere evident for the workers to break away from and disregard their own leaders.

What is clearly needed is the creation of a feeling of mutual confidence between these two parties; the evolution of a plan which will satisfy both that neither is trying to take advantage of the other. It is urged in many quarters that this can be established by the inauguration of profit-sharing policies. Workers are now insistently demanding that they be given a larger share of the wealth produced by their labor. Capital and Labor are, in reality, partners in industry. Neither one can get on without the other. But Labor holds, and with some justice, that in the past Capital has received the major portion of the profits resulting from the partnership. Their labor, they claim, is not merely a commodity to sell, but something which, like Capital, has a right to its fair share of the wealth resulting from the combined use of Capital and Labor. Labor asks for a share of the profits of industry.

Profit-sharing policies are now being tried out in Great Britain, United States and Canada. A few days ago, on the occasion of the twenty-first anniversary of the business, the Robert Simpson Co., of Toronto, announced the inauguration of profit-sharing with its large army of employees. One of the large industrial concerns in the United States, employing about 10,000 hands, has adopted a novel profit-sharing policy. The Company's plan provides: "That after present capital and permanent labor have each been justly compensated, having due regard to the cost of each (the cost of capital and the cost of living) then the additional profits accruing from the joint employment of permanent capital and permanent labor shall be divided equally among them—fifty, fifty." Individual and departmental efficiency is to be rewarded, and there is to be increasing reward for continuous service, but these rewards are to have no influence upon the periodical wage readjustments.

Commenting on this scheme, a prominent and influential United States paper regards it as likely to provide a basis for the adjustment of the entire labor question, and says: "It is one of the complaints of Capital that the demands of Labor organizations are often unjust, and are instigated, for the most part, by labor leaders whose occupations depend upon things being upset in the industrial world. At the same time it is known that there are frequent cases in which strikes occur in direct opposition to the advice of labor leaders. Whatever merit the argument may have, it is obvious that if Labor were satisfied with conditions no amount of agitation, on the part of anyone, would be likely to bring about strikes. If, for example, the workers were to see that it was to their personal interest that the concern by which they were employed should turn out the largest amount of products, and the best made goods that could be produced, they would probably give little heed to the plea for a shorter working day. It is generally agreed that strikes are tremendously costly. If afforded an opportunity to participate in the prosperity of their employers, it seems altogether likely that employees would see the justice in taking also their share of possible losses. The elimination of suspicion and selfishness would go a long distance toward bringing about a better understanding between Capital and Labor, and a step toward that end seems to be the first one to take."

Never Troubled With Headache

This Relief From Suffering Fully Appreciated by the Writer of This Letter—Tells Others How Cure Was Effected

South Fork, Sask., March 25.—Mrs. Letts of this place has a happy experience to relate. She suffered terribly with headaches, but headache medicines never seemed to help her. The trouble came from torpid, sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and when this condition was overcome by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the headaches disappeared, and Mrs. Letts felt that her health was greatly benefited.

Mrs. A. F. Letts, South Fork, Sask., writes: "I suffered from terrible headaches, so severe I thought sometimes I would go crazy from them. No remedy I ever tried helped me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since using these I can say I am never troubled with headaches now, and feel much better generally." This statement is endorsed by Mr. O. P. Cole, Postmaster at South Fork, Sask.

Mrs. F. L. Harris, Keatley P. O., Sask., writes: "I was suffering from liver trouble—had a heavy pain under one shoulder-blade all the time, and was nearly as black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and before I had taken one 25c box the pain had left me, and I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My trouble was caused by heavy work out of doors, and, of course, heavy eating, and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from Kidney or Liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Pills a trial."

Road Drag Competitions

Open to the Councils of Organized Rural Municipalities

Road drag competitions have been carried on for several years in the prairie provinces of Canada. They are generally open to the councils of organized rural municipalities, duly affiliated automobile clubs, and duly authorized good road associations.

Awards in the competition carried on by the department of highways of the province of Saskatchewan in 1918, have just been announced. Five prizes, aggregating $500, were offered in each of six districts. Three grand prizes, also aggregating $500, were offered in addition, open to the whole province. In the competition there were sixty-six entries, as compared with forty-four in 1917. The first grand prize was won by the rural municipality of Marriott, for the second year in succession. An automobile club and a good roads association each won awards.

WEAK, WORRIED WOMEN

Can Find New Health and Strength Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. To do so is to ask the almost impossible. But, at the same time, it is the duty of every woman to save her strength as much as possible; to take her cares as lightly as may be, and to build up her strength to meet any unusual demands. It is a duty she owes herself and family for her future health may depend upon it.

To guard against a complete breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. No other medicine does this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine actually makes new, red blood, strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite and keeps every organ healthfully toned up. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength and keep disease away by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have done more to lighten the cares of weak women than any other medicine. Among the many women who have reason to be thankful for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. Milan Bailey, Utterson, Ont., who says: "Two years ago I got weak and badly run down, and could scarcely do my housework. I grew so thin that my friends used to comment upon it. At that time my baby was six months old and the care of it and my housework was almost too much for me. It was at this stage that my husband got me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before I had been taking them long we could see an improvement in my condition. For months I had not been sleeping well and my natural sleep returned and I wasn't so nervous. Then my friends began to comment upon my improved condition and tell me how much better I was looking. By the time I had taken six boxes I felt completely cured, and have since enjoyed the best of health. Now I never fail to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when any of my friends are ailing."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

With the cattle in such good condition they have every show in the world to pull through easily until the new grass comes."

Flu Takes Heavy Toll

Winnipeg, Man. — Vital statistics just issued show that in the province of Saskatchewan during the month of December, 1918, there were 1,116 deaths from Spanish influenza, which is at the rate of 1.5 per 1,000 of the population. This brings the total number of deaths from this cause up to 3,072 in the province for the three months October, November and December, the death rate being 4.6 per 1,000 of the population for that period. The treacherous nature of the disease can be well understood when it is realized that during the whole of the year 1918 the total number of deaths in the province from all causes was 5,139.

Who Have Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

Muskoka Man Tells How After Four Months' Illness He Found The Remedy for All His Ailments.

Larchwood, Algoma, Ont., Mar 17. (Special).—"Dodd's Kidney Pills did me good and I want everybody to know it." So says Mr. Cyrus Correll, a well-known farmer living near here.

"I was sick for four months," Mr. Correll continued, "My trouble started from a combined cold and strain. I suffered from Neuralgia, and had pains in my back. I was often dizzy. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, I was tired and nervous and I had a nasty taste in my mouth in the morning. I was depressed and low spirited, I felt heavy and sleepy after meals, and there was a heavy dragging sensation across the loins. I didn't bother with the doctor. I had Dodd's Almanac by me, and I sent right off for two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Before I had taken half a box I began to feel better. Now I want everybody to know how good I feel, and that Dodd's Kidney Pills did it." Mr. Correll's symptoms are all symptoms of kidney trouble. He struck right at the root of the trouble by treating the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. That's why he got such good results, and got them so quick.

Getting the Habit

Shorthorn Steers Hold the High Record for Canada

Shorthorn steers are getting the habit of breaking price records in the open market. They hold the high record for Canada, and during the past year they have broken Chicago high price records on more than one occasion. They also hold the high price record for range steers, and early in December a load of Shorthorn yearlings, averaging 1,151 lbs., sold at $20 per cwt., which is the high record for yearlings on the open market. About a week later, a load of 1,832 pound Shorthorn grade steers sold at $20.50 per cwt., another high record for the open market.

At the Denver Winter Show, held in January a load of Shorthorn yearling steers shown in the feeder division by Weiss Bros., Elizabeth, Colo., were sold for $20.75 per cwt., the record price for feeders, outselling the Hereford grand champions 50c per cwt., and as they weighed 865 pounds, 70 pounds more per head than the champion load, they brought $18.50 per head more. Another load of senior yearlings, Shorthorns, the reserve champions, exhibited by Weiss Bros., weighed 964½ pounds and sold at $19 per cwt.

There is a reason why Shorthorns are appreciated by feeders. Note the weights of these steers. Those extra pounds, accompanied by quality which commands top market prices when finished, mean extra profit for the feeder.

Good Lumber Outlook

Depression Which Many Expected Has Not Materialized

The North Canada Lumber Co. Ltd. reports that prospects for business throughout northern Saskatchewan are better today than in any former year. The retail lumber business at the company's numerous yards has been excellent since January 1 and the results of the good crops in the north last year is being felt in all quarters. Farmers are making extensive improvements on their premises and there is particularly good business in material for new barns. It is reported from the southern parts of Saskatchewan that the demand is keen. It is apparent that the depression in the lumber trade which many expected at the close of the war has not materialized.

Value of Manitoba's Dairy Products

The report of the department of agriculture of Manitoba shows that the steady progress which is being made in this industry in the province was maintained last year. More than a million pounds more of butter were exported in 1918 than in 1917. The farmers received approximately $904,912 more for their dairy produce than during the previous year. The total value of dairy products amounted to $7,393,534.15.

Forced to Use Reserve Feed

Moose Jaw, Sask.—The cold weather of the past week in southern Saskatchewan has necessitated ranchers and farmers cutting into their reserve supply of feed. No great hardship is anticipated by any of them, however, as the remarkably open winter has made it very easy for them to winter their stock thus far. In the majority of cases the cattle and horses have been able to forage for themselves and this in a great measure has resulted in the farmers being able to keep their winter stocks for emergency purposes.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. LEE H. SMITH

THE KIDNEYS AND URIC ACID

All the blood in the body goes thru the kidneys within a few minutes. Therefore the kidneys are very important for health, because they filter out of the blood most of the waste (poisonous) substances and the blood then flows on toward the heart thru the kidney vein, and what the kidneys take out of the blood forms urine. So it is very important to have the water examined by a chemist at least once a year to test one's health.

I would suggest that everyone send a sample to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., for a thorough chemical and microscopic test. This will be made free of charge and a report sent to you. The kidneys and bladder suffer from the wear and tear, and we get chronic inflammations sometimes indicated by backaches, painful voiding of water, dull, heavy feelings. Perhaps the uric acid is stored up in the system in excessive amount, and, consequently, when the urate salts are deposited in muscles and joints one suffers from rheumatic pains, gout, etc.

Before an insurance company will take a risk on your life the examining physician will test the urine and report whether you are a good risk. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, or the twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism and gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed two or three times a night. This is the time you should consult some physician of wide experience—such as the specialists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Send 10 cents for sample package of the new discovery, Anurio (double strength). Write your symptoms and send a sample of urine for test. Experience proves that "Anurio" is a most potent agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot coffee melts sugar; besides being absolutely harmless it is endowed with other properties, for it preserves the kidneys in a healthy condition by thoroughly cleansing them—being many times more active than lithia.

Ask the druggist for "Anurio" put up by Dr. Pierce, in fifty-cent packages.

A large congregation was in attendance at the Jutland school on Sunday, when Mr. Bender preached here for the first time.

Miss Soderberg taught under a misfortune last week, her cold being so bad she could scarcely speak. Perhaps her pupils did not mind.

Where it came from we know not, but nearly every home is now burdened with severe colds.

Some people would prefer another correspondent, well, get busy some of you. Anybody can be an editor. All they have to do is to sit at a desk a short while and write down "stuff" like this.

Hun Delegates Must Stay at Versailles

Paris. — When the time for the signing of peace arrives, it is understood Germany's representatives will be housed in one of the palaces at Versailles and will not be permitted to enter Paris, as the French government does not care to undertake to afford protection to Germans in Paris.

While the German signatories will not actually be prisoners and must not be treated as such, public sentiment against Germany is so high in Paris that the French government is unwilling to risk unpleasant incidents which might occur were the official German representatives to appear publicly.

Plan Has Failed

France Gives Up Idea of Pooling War Debts

Paris. — France has abandoned, for the present at least, any hope of having her great war debts shared by the allies. It is authoritatively asserted by one of the Americans attending the conference that what had been an embarrassing possibility, has now been definitely eliminated from the deliberations, although it is possible that France might at some future time attempt to secure assistance.

The project has never been formally presented at the conference but conversations held at intervals since the conference began have served as a medium for the presentation of the French point of view.

The British and United States delegations have been quite frank in their dispute, and have openly said the people of their countries would be slow to endorse such a plan.

Council to Settle Boundaries

Paris. — The council of the five great nations has decided that the question of the Turkish boundary shall not be passed upon by the boundary commission but shall be acted upon by the supreme council. The boundary between Albania and Jugo-Slovakia also has been reserved for action by the supreme council and will be considered together with the entire Adriatic question and the deliberation of boundaries of Italy and Jugo-Slovakia. The west German boundary also has been reserved for action by the supreme council because of its many complexities.

Must Give Ships to U.S.

Santiago, Chile. — The Chilean government has received a report to the effect that the allied war council in Paris has decided that the German ships interned in Chile should be delivered to the United States. The government is awaiting a demand from the U.S. for the delivery of the vessels.

Asthma Cured

To Stay Cured

Thousands Testify to the lasting benefit secured from

Catarrhzone

CURES WITHOUT DRUGS

One of the finest discoveries in medicine was given to the public when "Catarrhzone" was placed on the market about fifteen years ago. Since then thousands have been cured of asthma and catarrh. An interesting case is reported from Calgary in a letter from Creighton E. Thompson, who says:

"Nothing too strong can be said for Catarrhzone. I suffered four years from asthma in a way that would baffle description. I went through everything that man could suffer. I was told of Catarrhzone by a clerk in Findlay's drug store and purchased a dollar package. It was worth hundreds to me in a week, and I place a priceless value on the benefit I have since derived. I strongly urge every sufferer to use Catarrhzone for Asthma, Bronchitis and Catarrh."

The one-dollar package lasts two months; small size, 50c; sample size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or the Catarrhzone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Spartacan Rebels Punished

Only Minor Fights Now Occurring in Berlin

London. — A German government wireless dispatch received here says that according to official announcement there had been no more important fighting anywhere in Berlin. A night attack on the staff quarters of the government troops in the suburb of Neukolln was frustrated. There were occasional unimportant engagements in Charlottenberg and various places in east Berlin.

A military order, affecting a number of streets in east Berlin, has been issued, says the wireless dispatch. The order declares that anyone found in these streets after seven o'clock in the evening will be shot.

The Berlin newspapers, the dispatch continues, say that the Spartacans visited Herr Noske, secretary of military affairs, to enquire into peace conditions. It is rumored that after protracted negotiations, the military demanded the unconditional surrender of the Spartacans and also the yielding up of their arms.

Explorer and Men Landed Near Starting Point

Dawson. — Storker Storkerson, explorer, and his few men who landed on an Arctic ice floe last year, expecting to float toward Siberia, have landed near the mouth of the Colville river, Alaska, not far from Baker's Land, where they started, according to word brought here by the Royal North West Mounted Police.

The party established a camp in March, 1918, on an ice floe, thirty miles long, seven miles wide and from fifty to one hundred feet thick. On this they drifted one hundred miles west, seventy miles north, and fifty miles east, according to reports. They landed November 7, 1918. While on the floe they subsisted on polar bears and seals.

Storkerson is reported to be on his way to Ottawa.

Australian Trade with Canada

Two New Freighters Being Constructed for This Service

Vancouver. — Mr. Charles Holdsworth, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, who has arrived here to take passage home on the steamship Niagara, after spending two years in England, announced that the company not only intended to replace all the ships lost during the war, but also to add another mail ship, faster and bigger than the Niagara, to run between here and New Zealand and Australia. He said the company was looking for the development of a great Australian trade with Canada and the United States. Two new freighters of 9,000 tons each are being constructed for this service, and will be completed by the end of March. Negotiations are also in progress for the purchase of three other cargo ships for delivery four months hence.

German Delegates Go to Brussels

Copenhagen. — The German delegates are going to Brussels to learn the decision of the allies concerning the turning over of the German mercantile fleet and the conditions of the food supply that is to be given Germany in return.

Weimar. — Under secretary Braun, speaking of the armistice negotiations at Spa, said:

"We consider the rupture of the Spa meetings simply a measure permitting the opposition delegates to demand fresh instructions from their governments. Our situation is serious, not desperate. Fresh negotiations will come."

Aerial Terms Settled

Paris. — The supreme council discussed the aerial terms to be imposed on Germany in the peace preliminaries, according to official announcement. The articles drafted by the military experts were examined and adopted.

Oriental Start Run on Bank

Police Reserves Were Called to Handle Crowds

Vancouver. — A scene closely resembling one of the panicky days during hard times was enacted here when a run was started on a Japanese bank in which Hindus as well as Orientals had money deposited when rumors of alleged insolvency of the bank started at a shingle mill employing Asiatics and shortly after the noon hour, a wildly dishevelled mob made its way to the bank in an automobile, presented their deposit books and demanded their savings.

From this incident rumors spread until there was a great crowd of Orientals demanding their money. Police reserves were called in to quell what had the appearance of a riot. Consul Ukita was appealed to and in a short time two automobiles of crisp bills were on their way to the bank from another bank and were soon arrayed in plain sight. Consul Ukita addressed the crowd and many of them redeposited their money before leaving the bank. The greatest number of withdrawals, however, were made by Hindus, who took their bills away with them. Several shingle mills were sadly crippled for help during the afternoon when their Asiatic employees made a wild dash for the bank.

Decisions Becoming Known

Military Conditions for Germans Given Out in Instalments

London. — The personnel of the German fleet is to be restricted to fifteen thousand, the supreme council has decided, according to press despatches from Paris.

The military conditions to be imposed on Germany includes guarantees that no tanks will be built and no more poison gas manufactured and that all German war material must be handed over and destroyed. It is added that allied commissions will supervise the carrying out of these conditions.

When the Germans are summoned to Paris, the Evening News says, the treaty will be read to them and they will be invited to sign it. There will be no discussion with a view to alterations of the principal articles of the treaty. If it is thought necessary, questions involving the adjustment of details will be referred to a special commission.

Airplanes Sold To Bolsheviks

London. — Lt. Porten, formerly an officer in the German aviation service, has been tried by court martial, according to Berlin advices received in Copenhagen, and forwarded by the Central News Agency, on a charge of having sold an entire park of airplanes at Vilna to the Bolsheviks for 2,000,000 marks.

The machines were valued at 10,000,000 marks. Porten then fled to Koenigsburg, and headed a conspiracy in the local workmen's council against the commander of the German garrison at Kovno.

The plot was discovered and Porten arrested.

SAT UP IN BED TO GET HER BREATH

Palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, inability to lie on the left side, feelings as if smothering, oppressed feeling in the chest, dizzy and faint spells, tired, weak, worn out feeling, involuntary twitching of the muscles, sleeplessness, restlessness, etc., all point to the fact that either the heart or nerves, or both, are not what they should be. Any of these conditions should be remedied immediately so as to avoid a complete breakdown of the whole system.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will bring energy to the weakened constitution, strengthen and regulate the heart, and tone up the tired, overstrained nerves.

Mrs. William Steeves, Chemical Road, N.B., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart, which was so bad I had to sit straight up in bed to get my breath. I could not lie on my left side at all. I tried doctor after doctor, also several different remedies, but got no help from them. My mother insisted on me trying Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. By the time I had used one box, I was feeling very much better. I took in all three boxes, and now I am in perfect health and can enjoy a good sound sleep, and can lie on my left side without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Geneva Suggested as Capital for League

People to Decide

Government of Alsace Left to Inhabitants

Strassburg. — A council of Alsace-Lorraine at a meeting here has adopted a plan for the re-organization of the administration of the two provinces, according to the wish of the inhabitants. A French high commissioner, with headquarters in Strassburg, will centralize all French service under his authority and will act for the French minister of war in matters which now have to be referred to Paris.

A number of members of the council from Alsace-Lorraine will assist the commissioner as a permanent consultative commission.

The council adopted a resolution insisting upon the necessity of hastening the elimination of all German elements from the public service.

Boundary Dispute Settled

Will Restore Belgium's Sovereignty and Eliminate Her Neutrality

Paris. — The report of the commission on Belgian affairs, charged with investigation of the differences between Belgium and Holland, has been submitted to the council of the five great powers. It advises that the three treaties of 1839 establishing the status of Belgium and Holland be revised by the council as they now are "useless and disadvantageous to Belgium."

The three treaties are identical except as to the signatories. Belgium and Holland signed one and Holland and Belgium each signed one with Great Britain, France, Austria, Russia and Prussia. Three of these powers have disappeared and the treaties have become "scraps of paper," which Germany violated by invading Belgium.

The proposed revision of the treaties will restore Belgium's complete sovereignty and eliminate her neutrality, which afforded no protection, and is now distasteful. Holland will be summoned before "the big five" shortly to discuss revision of the treaties.

Have Themselves to Thank

Huns Created Situation in Regard to Shipping

London. — Control of the German ships is a necessary condition to the feeding of the German people and the Germans have made that situation, declares the Westminster Gazette in discussing the break in the shipping negotiations at Spa. Again and again during the last two years the paper adds, it has pointed out to them the destruction of merchant tonnage by their ruthless submarine warfare would produce a situation in which it might be totally impossible to supply Germany herself with the food and raw materials which she would need when the war ended.

This is the often predicted nemesis of ruthless submarine warfare. If the allies are unable, from lack of tonnage, to send sufficient coal and food to their friends, the use of German tonnage will enable them to do justice to their friends and at the same time provide for their enemies, but we are obliged to tell the Germans that this is the only way, and if it seems harsh and repugnant they have themselves to thank for it.

Silesian Troops Aid Russia

Basel. — Silesian troops, acting in agreement with the central soldiers' council, have occupied the public buildings of Breslau, according to advices from that city. This action was taken owing to the discovery that Spartacan leaders were arriving in Breslau from Berlin with the purpose of occupying the buildings and delivering the town to pillage.

Great Waterway Across Europe

Chalons-Sur-Saone, France. — A congress of chambers of commerce at a session held here approved the project to join the Rhone river with the Rhine by coupling up the Rhone with Saone. The purpose is to create a great waterway between the Mediterranean sea and central Europe.

Paris. — An invitation was sent out to all the neutral nations in Europe, Asia and South America, asking them to attend a private and unofficial conference on Thursday, March 20, with the object of giving neutrals an opportunity to present their views on the league of nations. The invitation was sent by the conference authorities to the ministers of the neutral powers in Paris, and they forwarded it to their governments.

Switzerland has already replied favorably to the suggestion. No South American governments have yet answered.

A strong sentiment is developing in high quarters of the conference towards making Geneva the official seat of the league of nations. Several of the heads of the delegations, who have been consulted, have given their approval.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.

Indemnity Bill's Presented

Amounts Claimed Cannot Yet Be Made Public

Paris. — All the belligerent nations have presented their bills for indemnity to the commission, except France.

The amounts claimed by the various nations from Germany cannot yet be made public, the commission reserving to itself the right to give out the figures. It can be stated, however, that Belgium's demand totals between thirty billion and forty billion francs—twenty billion francs for actual physical destruction and the balance for thefts, unpaid-for requisitions, seizures and the like. This is the largest figure claimed by any of the belligerents with the exception of France.

MOTHER! DON'T TAKE CHANCES IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, sick, bilious, clean little liver and bowels.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Saving One More Pig From Each Litter

If that could be done on every farm in the province, it would raise the production of pork tremendously.

And it would increase the profits per average farm enough to quickly pay for a modern hog house and a cement feeding floor.

And such equipment would go a long way towards saving the extra pig per litter—sort of an endless chain you see—and a very profitable one for all concerned.

There's good money in hogs, we are told, where early losses are kept down and where feed is not wasted.

If you are not equipped to keep little pig losses down and prevent feed waste, it will pay you to let us show you what we know about modern, money-making hog houses and feeding floors.

On Friday afternoon the pupils of Miss Kerr's room presented Arthur Amacher with a book entitled "Britain's Heroes on Land and Sea." Arthur was called to the front and a neatly worded address was read by Tom Reed, while the presentation was made by Earl Ruby. Although taken altogether by surprise Arthur made a very suitable reply, thanking his classmates for their kindness.

The Home and Thrift

The school may do much to teach thrift among the young, but it cannot do as much as the home. In this the nursery of the nation, the fundamental things of life are instilled into the mind of the child. In proportion as this is done well, or badly, will the next generation make valuable citizens.

The people of France, Belgium and Holland are famous for their thrift. How did they become so? Through the influence of the home. Necessity, combined with good sense, years ago taught the fathers and mothers in these countries to be thrifty and the lessons of thrift have been faithfully handed down from one generation to another.

The rising generation of Canadians will be thrifty if thrift is taught and practised in the homes of this country. The school may do much to promote saving, but it cannot do nearly as much as the home, since the former only has the child for a few hours a day.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps are the best means of teaching and practising thrift at home. They are within the reach of all, and they pay well. No well regulated home should be without them.
